

29 December 2011

Patrick Goble

Every single day you say you want to see me look up at the stars and think of all the things you told me I could do with my life

Round and round we go again. I love you, hate you, my best friend
We know that I could never ever be without you, partners for life

But all the things I want to do necessitate a life without you
Please don't hate me. Please forgive me
Let me go and live your own life

The end is near I fear, my dear, but closure has a way of making words of love taste bitter to the very
sweetest tongues of sweet goodbyes

Oh, oh, oh, oh!

The end is near I fear, my dear, but closure has a way of making words of love taste bitter to the very
sweetest tongues of sweet goodbyes

The end is near I fear, my dear, but closure has a way of making words of love taste bitter to the very
sweetest tongues of sweet goodbyes

Every single day you say you want to see me look up at the stars and think of all the things you told me I
could do with my life

Round and round we go again. I love you, hate you, my best friend
We know that I could never ever be without you, partners for life

But all the things I want to do necessitate a life without you
Please don't hate me. Please forgive me
Let me go and live your own life

The end is near I fear, my dear, but closure has a way of making words of love taste bitter to the very
sweetest tongues of sweet goodbyes

Oh, oh, oh, oh!